Angelo M

design Leo Aerts

Angelo M is a table collection in natural stone, defined by sculptural forms, robust materiality, elegant lines, and a refined finish. Design and craftsmanship flow seamlessly together, forming the foundation of this table collection, which has received several international design awards.

At Alinea Design Objects, each table is entirely hand-finished on all sides, allowing base and top to unite as one harmonious whole. A honed finish is standard to reveal the marble's natural character. For outdoor use, a version with a sandblasted surface provides added resistance to changing weather conditions. Customization options are available on request.
